

Introduction Expression of friendship in school

Why are we raising this topic today? Because friendship is one of the most important human relationships on which a lot of things are built, and it is the most beautiful relationship that there is no equal, and it also works to motivate a person to live .more, and to spend more time at work or study and so on

And we must know very well the most important characteristics of a good friend, because they are necessary, so that we do not fall into the predicament of a traitorous friend, and this is what .makes us talk today about all these things about friendship

Introduction to a short essay on friendship

Friendship is one of the most important and noblest meanings, and it is considered one of the most important and greatest relationships in society. Therefore, today we are presenting an expression of friendship, which is the center of the universe and the center of many relationships. It is never possible for a person to live without a friend; rather our life must consist of .family. And friends until complete

The meaning of friendship

Friendship in the language means honesty, as the friend is the person who believes what he says in his words with his companions through the tongue and the heart, and does not carry in his heart for friends anything but goodness, .righteousness, and goodwill

As for the meaning of friendship in the terminology, it denotes the relationship that arises between two individuals and is based on advice and affection that basically arises from sincere love between the two parties and it is a sacred relationship that .has no equal

And friendship means befriending in all matters as long as it is in the face of goodness, that is, I follow the path of my friend as long as he urges me to do good, and in many times we also see friendship and friendship in evil, which indicates that
.choosing the good is necessary in life

The importance of friendship in life

We have to assert that life without friends is not important, because friends have fun, love and fun with them, and everything that is good from different actions and qualities, and
.therefore friendship is of great importance in our lives

.Encouragement to do charitable work

Encouragement to study and develop academically and in .many aspects of life

Strength and tension, because friends are always the help and
.helping hand

.The promotion of physical and mental health as well

The positive person who is next to us has a major role in feeling
.happiness, joy and gratitude as well

Psychological support that helps people to face the difficulties
.they face in life, because life contains many hardships

Talk and loose with someone who is next to you to help you on .the bitter aspects of life

Entertaining oneself with this friend, as this makes the .individual get more joy in his life

Feeling of people, and the lack of control of loneliness over a person, because this is something that makes life very difficult for a person

.Participate in a lot of things and hobbies as well

How to choose a good friend?

A true friend has characteristics that make him know quickly, and this is because he differs from a bad, corrupt friend who is not keen on his owner, as society agrees on some factors that if they are present in a friend, then this is a good friend, and they are as follows

To be a helper for you in righteousness, obedience, and righteousness

To accept you as you are, and not want to change some things about you

You also have to bear your anger at the time of grief, because he is one of the closest people to you

To be keen to see you happy, and to have all the joyful and sincere feelings that contain love and sincere intent

To be always encouraging you in everything

Also, he should not reveal your secret, because one of the qualities of a friend is keeping a secret and not divulging it

.Not to do things that upset you

He should always advise you, and warn you against getting into trouble

To see the joy in his eyes as soon as he knows your success in something

To share with you sorrow, just like joy, but to stand by you and ease your sorrows

It is also necessary for him to be among the first to be at your side if you need something

To be afraid of any harm or misfortune that may befall you

?When does the true face of friendship appear

It is worth noting that friendship is considered one of the most important meanings, and therefore we are talking about an expression of friendship, and that friendship has many faces, and it is possible for a friend to deceive you that he is a friend and in the end you discover the opposite

Therefore, friendship shows its true face through situations, which show the character of a friend well, because friends actually go through a lot of situations that make friends really appear as they really are. That he can do that

Another may ask his friend for a specific matter related to being beside him in a matter that saddens him and he does not see him beside him in this situation as well, and from that we discover friendship and its value, because friendship is a large part of safety, assistance and containment, and a friend must be next to his friend in time of need mechanism

What is the relationship between friendship and love

It is worth noting that friendship is considered one of the greatest aspects of love, but rather it is one of the highest meanings of love as well, and that friendship is basically based on love, friendliness and intimacy, because a loyal friend always deserves love, and one of the biggest misconceptions is .that love is limited to the lover and the beloved only

In fact, friendship is one of the most beautiful relationships that is based primarily on love and intimacy between the two parties, and it is a very strong covenant, because the boyfriend is the friend, companion, and lover at the same time, and a loyal friend always has a heart full of love, which makes love . .one of the greatest meanings of friendship that has no equal

Conclusion topic essay on friendship

The discussion on a topic expressing friendship, if we talk about it at length, is not over. Because it is one of the most important and important topics in our lives, because friendship is one of the highest and most beautiful meanings, and without it we would not get many meanings of brotherhood, love, companionship, loyalty, etc., and this makes us today the authority to talk about friendship, its importance, and the extent of its relationship with love, as it is one of the most powerful .and wonderful relationships in society